Extend Maryville Road South To Route 162 During Summer

By HARRY BARNES
Press-Record Staff Writer
Detailed engineering work for the extension of Maryville Road from Ponton Road south to Highway 162 is nearly completed and the project is expected to get under way early this summer, possibly by May, it was learned by the Press-Record
today.

Cost of the project—a three-mile stretch of four lane highway described by some city officials as a "bout to future development of the area"—is estimated at $2 million.
Under a contract signed by Granite City with Madison County during the latter part of 1970, the city will provide $550,000 of the cost, of which $30,000 is to be used to buy right-of-way located within the city boundaries.

The remainder of the cost
and right-of-way will be provided by the county.
The city's $550,000 obligation,
payable out of motor fuel taxes,
has become a matter of concern among city council members since the city's motor fuel tax fund has been depleted substantially during the past year.

County Fund Approved
An appropriation of $1.5 million was approved by Madison County in August 1970.
Detailed planning and engineering work, which is being handled by the county, was not begun until Granite City provided its $550,000 obligation and signed a contract to participate in the project in September 1970.

Mayor Donald Partney told city council members last week that it was his understanding that final working plans had been filed with the state and that the project could be approved for construction at any time.

A spokesman for the county's engineering firm handling the Maryville Road job planning said plans will be completed in about six weeks.

After plans are filed with the Illinois Division of Highways, acquisition of right-of-way will get under way, the spokesman said.

This is expected to present no
major problems, since much of the right-of-way already is privately owned, he added.
The work of completing easements should require only a short time and the Maryville Road work should get under way this summer, he said.

Since the city receives motor fuel tax allocations from the state of approximately $40,000 per month, it is probable the city can develop its $60,000
commitment by the time the project gets under way, Mayor Partney said.

Must Reduce Projects
He said, however, that to meet the commitment, city council members necessarily must abandon their practice of developing one street job after another, a procedure said to keep the motor fuel tax fund in a virtual state of bankruptcy.

The joint city-county project was initiated by the county, which also will handle the construction work. There will be no state participation in the program.

The proposed highway would be a four-lane roadway extending the present four-lane Maryville Road which now ends at Ponton Road. It would provide a highly improved traffic route skirting the eastern edge of the city.

The new portion of Maryville Road would extend almost directly south from the point where it now ends at Ponton Road, following a path that would encompass the presently paved section of Maryville Road from Stratford Lane to St.
Clair Avenue.

Gun, Cash Stolen
A .38 caliber pistol and $70
in cash were taken from the Greenwood Tavern, 1015 Greenwood St., Madison at midnight Saturday. Entry was made by forcing a window on the south side of the building.

SUPPORT FOR SIU ENGINEERING PRO-GRAM. Trustees of Southern Illinois University
Friday heard testimony supporting continuation of the engineering degree program at Southern Illinois University-Southwestern from, left to right, Kenneth Keene, assistant district engineer of the Illinois Department of Highways, District 8 in French Village; Gary Crites, assistant to the executive director of the Illinois Society of Professional Engineers; and Gene Sternberg, president of G. H. Sternberg and Co., Granite City contracting firm, and former president of the Southern Illinois Builders Association.

SIU Board to Fight to Retain Engineering Instruction Here

The Southern Illinois University Board of Trustees on Friday reaffirmed support for an engineering program on the Southwestern campus. The board met on the local campus.

The Illinois Board of Higher Education, meeting Jan. 4, had accepted a recommendation from its staff that the program be eliminated to save $222,726 in the fiscal year ending July 1.

The trustees voted to keep the program operating after hearing testimony on the need for the program from SIU-SW engineering students and from professional engineers not connected with SIU-SW who asked to testify before the trustees.

As part of the motion approved Friday, the trustees voted to invite the staff of the Board of Higher Education to SIU-SW to present reasons for wanting to eliminate the engineering program and to hear testimony supporting continuation of the program.

The trustees asked for the meeting to be held on or before the next trustees'
meeting date, which currently is set for Feb. 18.

The SIU-SW program has about 200 junior and senior students who have declared engineering as their major field. There are additional freshmen and sophomores
in pre-engineering courses

Retention of the engineering program was urged by SIU-SW President John R. Rendeman, who said the trustees would be "abdicating their responsibility for governing the university" in the Board of Higher Education
if they concurred with the recommendation to eliminate the
program.

Among those testifying that there is a definite need in this area for the SIU-SW program were Gene H. Sternberg Sr., Granite City building contractor; Kenneth Keene, assistant engineer for the Illinois Division of Highway District based in French Village; and Gary Crites, assistant to the executive director of the Illinois
Society of Professional Engineers.

SIU-SW is the only Illinois university in the St. Louis-Illinois Metropolitan region with an engineering program. The only engineering programs in the state are at SIU-Carbondale and at the Chicago and Urbana campuses of the University of Illinois.

Concerning retention, under the revisions, when a student's cumulative grade average falls below 3.00 on a scale of 5.00 for an "A", he is given a scholastic warning. Under present policy, the student's individual quarter grade average is used to determine scholastic warning.

The cumulative grade average, rather than the individual quarter grade average, also will be used to determine scholastic probation and scholastic suspension, more serious measures than scholastic warning.

The revised retention standards were recommended because the curriculum council
believed that a student's cumulative grade average is a more reliable indicator of academic ability than his individual quarter grade average, said Gore,
an associate professor in the Education Division at SIU-SW.

Granite City PRESS-RECORD

Higher Dividend
By Amsted Firm

Chicago—Earnings of Amsted Industries in its first fiscal quarter ended Dec. 31, 1971, were up substantially from those of the disappointing quarter a year ago. Net income was $2,238,000, or 81 cents per share, compared to $988,000, or 36 cents per share last year.

Sales were $68,774,000 compared to $65,582,000 a year ago, it was reported by Joseph B. Lanterman, chairman, and G. Smith, president. They also reported that at a board of directors meeting last week a dividend of 50 cents per share was declared payable on March 15 to stockholders of record as of the close of business on Feb. 18, 1972.

This is an increase from the 40 cents per share that was paid in each calendar quarter in 1971, and is within Phase II guidelines relating to corporate dividends. Amsted owns the American Steel Foundries plant in Granite City.

The executives said that shipments of industrial products were up primarily as the result of an increased demand for construction and building products—such as cast iron pressure pipe, clay pipe and precast concrete.

"Sales of railroad products were off because of a reduction in the number of new freight cars produced," they noted.

They noted that factors contributing to the improved earnings, in addition to higher sales, were the lower price of metal scrap, a major raw material used by the company's foundry plants, reduced interest expense, and improvement in operations at the cast iron pressure pipe plant in Florence, N. J., which had severe operating problems a year ago.

The unfilled order backlog at Dec. 31 was about $81,000,000, or 20% higher than a year ago.

Lanterman and Smith said Phase II controls and the uncertainties they create make it difficult to forecast results for the year as a whole.

Expenditures for plant and equipment amounted to $1,000,000 in the first fiscal quarter and are expected to total about $9,000,000 for the year.

At Dec. 31, the company's total amounted to $4,300,000, or a little over $2,300,000 from the beginning of the fiscal year.

Better A. O. Smith Product Mix; See Some Sales Growth

New York—Earnings of A. O. Smith Corporation in 1971 were substantially above those in 1970, and sales were a record, L. B. Smith, chairman and chief executive officer, announced Thursday. The firm reported an automotive frame plant in Granite City.

Sales for the company of $156,846,000 were 10.6% above 1970 results, Smith said. Earnings per share before the extraordinary loss were $5.23.

In 1970, sales were $141 million and earnings were $2.30 per share before an extraordinary gain.

Smith said there was an extraordinary loss of 72 cents per share in 1971 connected with the sale of a subsidiary, Layne & Bowler Pump Co.

The surge by General Motors, A. O. Smith's largest customer, in its recovery from the 1970 strike helped the A. O. Smith Automotive Division achieve a record volume in 1971.

In addition, the trucking industry recorded its first two-million-unit sales year, and this also helped A. O.

Smith, since the company supplies about half of the truck frame market.

Smith said A. O. Smith's Automotive Division subsidiaries, its water heater operation and another subsidiary, A. O. Smith Harvestore Products, Inc., which manufactures livestock feeding systems, are doing particularly well in 1971.

Two A. O. Smith affiliates also contributed to the company's improved performance last year.

A. O. Smith-Inland Inc., which makes plastic pipe and steel powder, turned in a profit—compared with a loss in 1970.

A. O. Smith Corp. of Texas substantially reduced its loss from the previous year. The later affiliate produces line pipe for the transportation of natural gas and petroleum products.

Smith mentioned a number of other factors which affected A. O. Smith in 1971.

"One of the major factors, he said, was President Nixon's freeze and controls programs. While these programs also had some positive effects, on balance they hurt 1971 earnings."

Also, Smith said, the slower than expected economic recovery hurt the company's Clark Control division, which manufactures industrial control systems.

The company's Meter Systems Division was affected last year by a strike, market development costs in Europe and a severe decline in service station pump orders.

The A. O. Smith Electric Motor Division experienced its first down year in ten years of substantial growth, Smith said.

Although the division was still profitable, overstocking in the air-conditioning industry in 1970 led to a slowdown in orders in 1971. The division manufactures motors for the air-conditioning and industrial refrigeration markets.

Another adverse impact in 1971 was increased interest expense.

Considering the turbulent conditions the company faced in 1971, Smith said, the year was fairly good for A. O. Smith.

"We showed good profit improvement and I believe we are poised for continuing growth."

While he has some questions about the passenger frame, line pipe and industrial controls markets in 1972, Smith expressed enthusiasm about the elevator, water heater and Harvestore operations, and predicted that the meter and electric motor businesses would resume growth.

"Overall," he said, "we are confident of the future because we have done a considerable amount of restructuring of our basic business in recent years."

He added, "We feel we have attained a better overall mix of products, and the markets we serve offer good opportunity for growth."

A. O. Smith, with its subsidiaries, is a widely diversified manufacturer of electric motors, electrical controls, meter systems, auto and truck frames, agricultural feed storage and handling systems, water heating equipment, elevators and other products.

Figures for 1971, 1970, the fourth quarter of 1971 and October-December 1970, in that order, were as follows:

Net sales, $156,846,000, $141,097,543, $112,905,000, $43,437,000.

Net income before extraordinary items, $12,988,226, $12,004, $3,902,000 and ($800,000).

Earnings per share before extraordinary items, $5.23, $2.30, $1.61 and ($1.30).

Average number of shares outstanding, 2,449,107, 2,468,577, 2,452,104 and 2,457,449.

Net income including extraordinary items, $11,048,226, $9,433,004, $2,192,000 and ($1,154,000).

Earnings per share, $4.51, $3.82, $0.89 and ($0.46).

Income Key Factor in Filing Tax Return

The amount of your income is a key factor in determining whether you have to file a Federal income tax return, Jay G. Philpot, District Director of Internal Revenue for Central and Southern Illinois, has announced.

A single person under 65 years of age with a gross income of $1,700 or more for the year has to file a return. This requirement applies to minors and students.

No return is required from anyone 65 or older on the last day of the tax year unless the gross income was $2,300 or more. Married couples living together and filing a joint return do not have to file unless their combined gross income is $2,300 or more, or $2,900 if one is 65 or older, or $3,500 if both are 65 or older. However, when the income is under these limits a return should be filed to get a refund of any income tax withheld from salaries or wages.

Businessmen, farmers, and other self-employed persons must file a return if their net earnings from self-employment are $400 or more.

Publication 528, "Information on Filing Your Tax Return," furnishes more detailed information. It may be obtained free by dropping a post card to Forms, P. O. Box 1488, Springfield, Illinois 62706.

Canal Freight Shipments Drop in 1971

Freight shipped through the Chain of Rocks Locks and Canal in 1971 dropped substantially from the record total in 1970, but 1971 still ranks as the second highest in total tonnage ever shipped through the canal.

The record of 50,747,918 tons which passed through the locks in 1970 was untouched as last year's total of 48,705,045 tons was nearly 2 million tons short of the record.

In December, shipments totaled 3,494,178 tons, all commercial, with 4,909 vessels passing through the canal. Both were considerably below November when 5,694 vessels carried 4,242,350 tons of cargo through the locks.

The number of each in 1970 and 1971 were: tow boats, 10,883 to 2,981; passenger boats, 13 to 20; barges, 52,817 to 50,946; U. S. contractor boats, three to one; private recreation boats, 1,281 to 1,807; government tow boats, 74 to 45; government barges, 285 to 102; government construction barges, nine to 10; and patrol boats, 172 to 185.

Heart Fund Campaign Kicked Off at Dinner

The 1972 Heart Fund campaign for the Quad-City area opened at a kickoff dinner-meeting Thursday at Charlie's Restaurant.

Circuit Judge John Gitchoff, general chairman who sponsored the dinner, appointed city chairmen and announced that solicitations are being made among business, industrial and professional leaders.

He added that the annual door-to-door campaign, in which 45% of the Heart Association budget has been derived, will be held on the last Sunday of February.

Heading the drive will be Weldon Burch, president of Stedwarders Local 67, and Mrs. Peggy Burch, Granite City co-chairman; Claude Elchols, Madison chairman; and Walter T. Simmons, Venice chairman.

Judge Gitchoff announced goals of $10,000 for Granite City and $3,000 for Madison-Venice. He said 75% of the funds are used for research and heart care and 25% for administration and advertising.

Rate Jumps
He noted that 54% of the population dies of heart disease, and in the business and professional fields, the rate jumps up to more than 70%.

"All of the health campaigns are good causes," Judge Gitchoff said, "but the Heart Fund charity is the only one we can be selfish about and do something for ourselves. This is an opportunity."

"We can prevent premature death and crippling diseases through research no matter where the research is conducted. We will get the benefit. It is a worthy charity and research program that benefits us now and will benefit our children and grandchildren. It already has provided some persons with 5, 10, 12 years, or extra life."

To Present Plagues
Judge Gitchoff said donations

need not be too high, and that some business and industrial leaders have contributed $50 to $100. He said plaques will be presented to the larger contributors.

He said contributions may be mailed to him at the Granite City, Madison or Venice city halls, with checks made payable to the Madison County Heart Fund. He noted that the contributions are tax deductible.

Jim Allen of Springfield, director of field services for the Southern Illinois region of the Heart Association, said, "The death rate for people under 65 in the past 10 years has dropped by 20%. We are getting results, and that is the name of the game."

"The great tragedy of heart disease is among the young families. It hits guys and women and leaves children."

Others attending the meeting, at which campaign materials were distributed, were Mayor Michael Sasyk of Madison, Mayor John Lee of Venice, Mrs. Thelma Simmons of Venice and George Wetzel, staff assistant at the regional Heart Association office.

Granite City Mayor Donald Partney was unable to attend because of a previous commitment but informed the group that he wholeheartedly endorses the Heart Fund drive.

School Talks

quired notices of publication for the annual Madison School District election of two members to the Board of Education. The filing date for candidates is Feb. 23 through March 17. The election will be held April 8. Withdrawal deadline was set for March 23.

A treasurer's report for the period Dec. 1, 1971 to Jan. 1, 1972, showing a bank balance of $159,710 less outstanding checks and less deductions in the amount of $48,534, leaving a balance of $111,176, was submitted by Ray Kozielek. This balance plus investments totaling $373,558 leaves a total balance of $483,734 in all funds.

Tax Objections Filed
Kozielek also said tax objections have been filed by the International Business Machine Co., Norfolk and Western Railroad Co., Terminal Railroad Association, Gulf, Mobile and Ohio Railroad, Chicago and Northwestern Railroad, and Illinois Central Railroad Co. They objected to valuations of all funds, specifically the educational fund, building fund and Junior College Tuition tax, the treasurer said.

Reinspection reports for the Madison High School, Madison Junior High School and the Louis Hart School, listing items that should be remedied before final approval can be given under the Illinois School Life Safety Code, were submitted by Virgil H. Dugger, architect. Final disposition is to be made by the board.

Board members agreed to table bids on roof repairs for Blair School and Harris School because of insufficient bidding, and seek new bids.

Temporary approval was granted the district for use of the Presbyterian Church facilities for the Educable Mental Health class for the balance of the school year, with the provision the class will be transferred to another of the district's buildings for the following year.

Transfer Requests Filed
Requests from Joe Asperger to transfer from Madison Junior High School to the sixth grade at Louis Baer and from Mrs. Anne Frayley to transfer from Dunbar School to the name teaching post at Louis Baer will be held up until notice is given the teachers local announcing the opening due to the retirement of George Hopkins.

Also placed on file were applications for custodial, cafeteria and office employment.

The board also approved requests from the Bethel A&F Church, Boy Scouts of America, a basketball team and Newport Church of God and Christ Church to use Dunbar School for specific activities during this month and in February.

After the meeting adjourned a delegation of mothers representing students of Dunbar School requested window shades be installed at the school. Manaway instructed Riddle to have the shades installed immediately, as this matter had been approved at an earlier meeting.

Beauty, Above All, Is Discipline, Says Princess Pignatelli, Author

By PEGGY WALKER
Copley News Service

Her striking good looks, like her beauty advice, are not of common stuff.

Princess Luciana Pignatelli, author of "The Beautiful People's Beauty Book," is everything any woman might hope to be, appearance wise. But it wasn't always that way.

The sculptured, classic profile helped along, she'll tell you, by a nose job, the regal, high cheekbones filled out with silicone injections to which she readily admits, the white-streaked hair (tinted once a month), the dramatic eyes improved by eyelid lifts, and the lithe silhouette combine to create an illusion of impeccable chic.

"I am not a great natural beauty," writes Princess Pignatelli in her book. "But what nature skipped, I supplied. I look better now, at 35, than at any other time in my life."

Teen Age Problems

Her beauty is partly manufactured, but she's not afraid to say so. "I had undesirable problems as a teenager—a broad nose, skin problems and overweight," said Princess Pignatelli, whose basic premise is that you can't rely on nature alone for good looks.

To remedy her earlier beauty plight, she has had cell implants, plastic surgery, silicone injections, a nose job, eyelid lifts, approached yoga and still goes to the best gymnast in Rome. Facials and pedicures are routine for her.

She will try anything new that comes along to improve her beauty.

Beauty and appearance should be a woman's first concern, said the author in an interview, "because no matter what people say, the first impact a person makes is almost always physical."

Among the things she suggests that contribute to a woman's beauty are self-discipline, prister, consolation, and Mrs. Donna Warren.

Refreshments were served to the prize winners and Mesdames Arla Ault, Sharon Heinke and Mrs. Charles Arla Sylvia Massman. Mrs. Rawlings has invited the group to her home for the next meeting.

DR. TROYER ADDRESSES FEDERATED SCHOOL PTA

Mrs. Florence Petrovich, president of the Federated School PTA presided at the January meeting. A program on multi-grade science was given by Mrs. Trower, who showed films and spoke to the gathering. Accompanying her were her son, David, and daughter, Volpaw.

Dr. Raymond Troyer, president of the Co-Ordinated Youth Services, addressed the group on the topic, "Relationship Between Parent and Child." A question and answer period followed.

Reports were submitted by Mrs. Joyce Toussaint, and it was announced that the next activity of the PTA will be a roller skating party at the Stuart Rink Feb. 7 from 6 p.m. until 8 p.m. Admission tickets are $1, with the cost at the door $1.25.

The room attendance award went to Miss Boyd's third grade class.

Refreshments were served by third graders, Mrs. Madeline Billie Meier, Melba Elmore, Jolene Wood, Sandy Cavar, Carolyn Sykes, Barbara Thebeau, Mary Sharp, Carol Davis, Marian Kasticic and Phyllis Hodge.

MARYVILLE PTA WILL VIEW TALENT SHOW

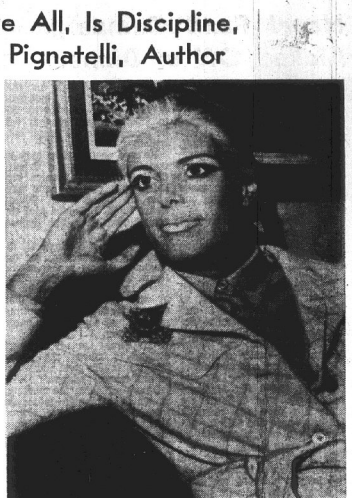

The executive board of the Maryville School PTA has completed plans for the next PTA meeting Feb. 22. The board met last week at the school with the president, Norman Hall.

A "talent show" by students of the fourth, fifth and sixth grades will be given at the general meeting.

The room mothers will be in charge of valentine parties Feb. 14 in all classrooms. The PTA will furnish the ice cream treats.

A discussion was held on possible ways and means projects, with definite plans to be announced later.

Maryville School will host the March 23 Area PTA Council meeting, when the program will be on "Open-Space Concepts."

BEAUTIFUL SCHEMER. Princess Luciana Pignatelli, author of "The Beautiful People's Beauty Book," believes women should go to any lengths to improve appearance because "you can't rely on nature alone" for beauty.

vatage bedrooms, work, cosmetic procedure, not just luxury, particularly in the United States, and the right kinds of husbands are in the public eye."

Luciana, with her straight and beautiful nose that is indeed a credit to her surgeon, and her slender figure, a credit to her personal gymnast, doesn't care where the credit goes.

Making the effort is what counts to her. She believes women should seek beauty first of all for themselves, second for the men in their lives, because beauty gives women confidence.

"Becoming involved deeply in any discipline—and beauty, above all, is discipline—," she said, "takes you outside of yourself."

"Beauty is something you learn at a certain age. It becomes an inherent part of you and you forget it," said the author, who is training her 16-year-old daughter in the ways of beauty since childhood.

Money and time help in the process of becoming beautiful, but both are relative, according to the author. She spends about 10 minutes a day on makeup and gets to the hairdresser only once a month for tinting.

Mississippi Mudcats to Play at Ball

The Mississippi Mudcats, one of the St. Louis area's best dixieland jazz bands, will provide part of the entertainment at the upcoming Mardi Gras Ball, sponsored by the Madison County Unit of the American Cancer Society. The ball will be held at the Lewis and Clark Restaurant in East Alton, on Feb. 6 from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m.

The band has just completed a six month engagement at the "Granary," a popular night spot in Edwardsville. They have also played numerous engagements at various jazz bistros along the St. Louis riverfront, including the famous Goldenrod Showboat.

The "Mudcats" also donated their time and talent to the Camelot Auction at KETC Channel 9 recently and participated in the all-traditional jazz riverboat cruise on board the S. S. Admiral last fall, where they played to an audience of 3,500 jazz enthusiasts.

Dan Havens, leader of the Mississippi Mudcats, has played jazz for close to 25 years. Havens, who plays the cornet, still fronts his renowned Bol Weevil Jazz Band for special engagements such as the Memphis Cotton Carnival and the St. Louis Ragtime and Jazz Festival. He has made seven jazz LP albums with the Bol Weevil, and has recorded with several other jazz bands.

Havens is a professor of American literature at SIU-SW. He recently played at the Texas State Fair in Dallas and for the Milwaukee Fest last summer with his Bol Weevil Jazz Band. Jean Kittrell, honky-tonk piano player and vocalist for the group, has been playing low-down piano and singing the blues for about 15 years. Jean has cut two jazz LP's featuring her piano and singing, the last of which, "Ta'nt Nobody's Business," was recorded with Havens' Bol Weevil Jazz Band. She has played at jazz festivals around the country—the Hemis Fair in San Antonio, the Texas State Fair in Dallas, the Manassas festival in Virginia, and many others.

Jean plans to do a biography of the great blues singer Bessie Smith soon, but is presently completing her PhD in English.

literature at SIU-Carbondale. The artist also plays annual benefits with "The Old Guys Jazz Band" at both SIU campuses. Until fairly recently, Jean was a featured attraction at the Old Levee House and on the Goldenrod Showboat in St. Louis and she still makes occasional guest appearances there. She also has been very active in television performing.

Some of the other musicians who perform in the band are, Skip Driener on the trombone, Warren Brown on clarinet and sax, Ray Helsel on bass and Jim Hansen who handles percussion. Driener and Brown are both veteran dixieland jazz performers and have been associated with Havens for many years. Helsel and Hansen are both newcomers to traditional New Orleans jazz, but both have had several years of experience in other fields of music.

Venice 2nd, Madison 3rd In Dupo Cage Tournament

The Venice High School Red Devils took second place in the Dupo Invitational basketball Tournament as they lost the championship game Friday to (Brooklyn) 78-41; while the Madison Trojans won their game over Steeleville 75-49 for third place.

The Brooklyn Wildcats led the Devils at the end of each quarter 17-14, 36-27 and 53-48. The last quarter saw the Devils outpuncted 23-15.

"They have a good club at Brooklyn, and we made a lot of mental mistakes against them," Venice Coach Bill Ohlen-dorf commented.

"We got within four points of them twice and then gave the ball away. You can't play like that in a championship game and come out on top."

Brooklyn's Glen Chatman kept the pressure on and was high-point man with 35. This was Brooklyn's first tournament since 1955 when they won the Roxana district event.

Commit 22 Fouls

The Devils tagged 27 field goals but committed 22 fouls,

Press-Record Sports

and starters Ray Mosby and Jim Ohlen-dorf fouled out.

Algie Smith led the scoring effort for the Devils with 15. Other Venice cagers scoring were Ron Henry 13; Cornelius Wiley 11; Ohlen-dorf 9, Dan Severs 8, and Mosby 5.

Fouls hurt the Devils in the first half, and rebounds in the second half, as they only took 11 off the boards and the Wild-cats grabbed 25.

Venice now has a 7-6 record.

Trojan Game

Steeleville took a 22-18 first-quarter lead over the Madison Trojans earlier Friday in the third place contest. But the Trojans came back in the second quarter taking a half time lead of 35-32. Madison all but turned off Steeleville's offense in the last two quarters, 23-9 and 15-4.

Madison outshot the losers 30 to 22 from the field and 15 to 5 from the free throw line.

Jerry Belford, who joined the Trojan team five games ago, led the Madison attack with 21 points; followed by Ed Chandler with 15.

Other Trojans scoring were Anthony Matthews 13; Roger and Vernell Glasper 7 each; Ter-rance Young 5 and Kelvin Boyd 2.

The Steeleville defeat gives the Trojans a 5-3 record.

Top 10 Players

Two Venice and two Madison cagers were selected as members of the top 10 players in the tournament. Receiving the honors from Venice were Smith and Ohlen-dorf, and from Madison, Belford and Chandler.

Both Madison and Venice take to the road Tuesday for 8:15 p.m. cage contests. The Trojans play at Edwardsville and Devils play at Lincoln.

The Trojans lost a heart-breaker in their 84-82 loss to Brooklyn in Thursday night's semifinal.

With 10 seconds left Chandler sank one to tie the score at 82-82. But luck turned against the Trojans as, with one second remaining, Brooklyn connected.

Brooklyn led at the quarter breaks 22-21, 40-37 and 66-45.

The Wildcats, one of the top rated Class A schools in the area, outshot the Trojans 32 to 31 from the field.

Each team made free throws 19-19 and committed 20 fouls. The Trojans commanded the 41-28, with Young snagging 17. Chandler took scoring honors with 33 points, followed by Brooklyn's Chatman with 30.

Other Trojans scoring were Young and Belford with 15 each, Matthews 13, Boyd 7 and Glasper 1.

UP AND AWAY! Devil Ron Henry (45) fires a field goal as Brooklyn players try desperately to stop the shot. The Devils lost the game 76-61 but claimed a second place title in the eight-team Dupo Tournament.

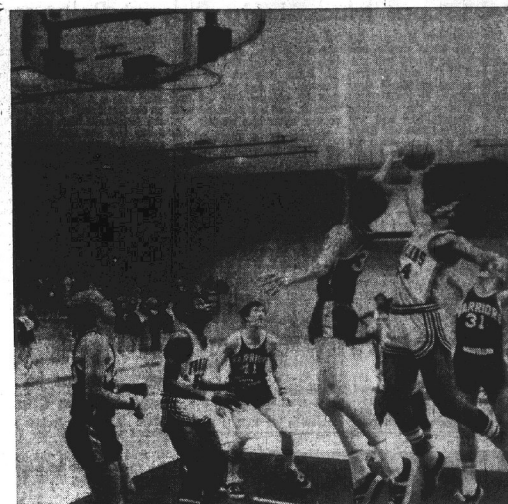

With one minute left on the clock it was 74-73 for the Devils, and Bailey was fouled. He missed his shot and Maurer jumped in a bucket off the free throw for the final score.

Action for the two teams will resume Tuesday night as Venice meets Lincoln at East St. Louis and Madison travels to Edwardsville.

High point man for Venice was Ohlen-dorf with 24 points followed by Smith, with 22.

Other Devils scoring were Mosby 11, Severs 7, Henry 6, Maurer 4 and Bailey 2.

Congratulations. You just saved $5 by doing your own income tax. And all it cost you was three long, sleepless nights.

And a slight case of heartburn.

If you had gone to H & R Block, on the other hand, you could have relaxed while someone else figured out your return. Quickly and conveniently. Probably unlike many you've ever done before.

And, when you figure your own, you may be entitled to deductions you're not taking and taking deductions you're not entitled to. For instance, do you know all about deductions for child care or casual losses? Or, that if your income increased over the last few years, you may have a dollar in "income averaging"? And even if you did, would you know how to go about "income averaging" to begin with? Probably not. And there's no reason why you should. After all, you're an amateur when it comes to doing income tax.

Your income tax that you might never have known existed.

Furthermore, if your return is audited, we will accompany you, at no extra cost, to the Internal Revenue Service and explain how your return was prepared, even though we will not act as your legal representative.

This means that H & R Block is ready to offer you year-round tax service for just one low fee a year, with no extra charge for audits at $5 and the average cost was under $12.50 for the 7 million families we served last year.

Which is somewhat less than what you would pay. Not to mention the fact that aggravation isn't tax deductible.

DON'T LET AN AMATEUR DO YOUR TAXES. H & R Block.
The income tax people.

Undefeated Warrior Matmen Down Hazelwood, Wood River

The undefeated Granite City High School matmen earned their 14th and 15th consecutive victories by downing Hazelwood 14-0 in Missouri Friday and handing Wood River a resounding 12-0 loss there Saturday.

The Wood River victory was the 16th consecutive dual meet win for the local Warriors against Southern Illinois teams.

The two victories came despite the flu which forced two Warriors, Gary Loy and Charlie Mayfield, out of the lineup.

Coach Bill "Red" Schmitt replaced them with two junior varsity wrestlers. He moved four regulars to heavier weight classes. The flu also hurt the Wood River Oilers who were forced to forfeit three matches.

Warrior wrestlers and their results against Hazelwood and Wood River were: Phil Lapinski (98), won 2-1, won 5-0; Pat MacMillan (105), won 3-2, won 11-0; J. O. Niebur (112), 7-7 draw, pin in 40 seconds; Kerry Blumkin (119), won 7-2, won by default (leading 7-0 when his opponent was injured).

Dennis Ragan (132), lost 2-1, won 18-2; Dave Wilson (138), pin in 4:27, pin in 4:45; John Hankins (145-first time in varsity competition), lost 3-2, lost 6-3; Rich Paschenda (150), lost 5-0, pin in 54 seconds; Jack Schooley, pin in 1:18, won by forfeit; Tom Kalert (185), won 17-0, won by forfeit, and Craig Stephens (heavyweight), won 8-7, pin in 3:16.

Wilson continues to lead the squad with 27 match victories this season and Kalert was the second to break the 25-win mark with his pin Friday.

The junior varsity wrestlers felt the loss of MacMillan and Hankins as they bowed 26-23 to Hazelwood in the double meet Friday. The Warrior JV team had only one win by a fall, that from Dan Heath in the 118-pound category.

Earning decisions were Don Heath, Rudy Pyle, Mike Hollis, John Avedisian, John McMillan and Dave Ruckhausen.

Warriors Top Carbondale 90-65, Take 3rd at Salem

The Granite City High School Basketball Warriors claimed a third-place trophy when they defeated Carbondale 90-65 Saturday after losing Friday to Salem 45-42. Salem won the tournament by defeating Olney 70-50.

Five Warriors hit in the double figures for a 49% average from the floor, and a 70% average from the charity line in the Carbondale game.

The Warriors took an early lead and at the half they were ahead 37-33.

Terry Ripka led the attack against Carbondale with 23 points. Warriors scoring in the double figures were Joe Wallace 20, Tom Vrenick 14 and Kevin Dyer and Bob Wiggins 13 each.

Cougar Cagers Best Chicago Circle 100-72

The Southern Illinois University - Southwest basketball team will meet the Blue Tigers of Lincoln University at Jefferson City, Mo., tonight in the first of three games the Cougars of Coach Jim Dudley face this week.

Dudley's SIU-SW cagers ran their record to 2-1 for the season Saturday night at home with a 100-72 victory over the University of Illinois-Chicago Circle.

The Cougars were paced by their junior guards Denny Thronburg and Tony Johnson. Thronburg, who has been battling his way back from a knee operation in mid-October, led SIU-SW in scoring with 18 points, but his running mate, Johnson, was just one point behind with 17. SIU-SW's 6-8 center, Gene Bounds, contributed 15, while senior Otis Ward, a forward from Kankakee, made 12. Ward just became eligible Jan. 4th.

Little (5-11) Monte Roberts of the Chikaskas took game scoring honors with 23 points as he hit for 10 field goals in 19 chances.

The Cougars will return home Wednesday night to host the surging University of Missouri, St. Louis Rivermen of Coach Chuck Smith. They travel to Canton, Mo., Saturday night to take on Culver-Sockett College, a team which beat them here last year.

Tonight's game against Lincoln will be a real challenge for the Cougars. In the two schools' only meeting, SIU-SW took a thriller here last season, 88-86, but Lincoln is off and running and is the leader in Missouri Intercollegiate Athletic Association basketball race.

The Blue Tigers have the top scorer in the league in LaMont Pruitt, who has hit 68 two-pointers in 123 attempts. His teammate, Merle McMurry, is fourth with 30 fielders, in 60 attempts.

Tom Russo, coach of the University of Illinois-Chicago team, had this comment on Wednesday's UMSL and SIU-SW game: "We lost to both, but UMSL can't take the Cougars lightly. If they do, SIU-SW will knock them off."

The Blue Tigers have the top scorer in the league in LaMont Pruitt, who has hit 68 two-pointers in 123 attempts. His teammate, Merle McMurry, is fourth with 30 fielders, in 60 attempts.

Brett Champion 3 and Gary Lively and Steve Metzger 2 each.

"This was probably one of the best overall team performances we have had. They moved the ball well, demonstrated real poise and did not take any forced shots," Coach Don Dierding commented.

"It would have helped if we had Rick Prehn. He's got a virus and was out the entire tournament. Dyer did real well after being out sick and not playing much."

Salem Game

It was a foul night for the Warriors Friday as Salem scored 21 points on charity throws. The Warriors fouled 22 times. Salem committed 11, giving the Warriors eight points on free throws.

Salem's Don Jones hit two free throws for a 43-40 lead with less than a minute remaining on the clock, and then after the Warriors tagged a field goal, Jones came back with 19 seconds left to sink a two pointer and put the game on ice.

Salem led the first quarter 15-12, but the Warriors came back to gain a half time lead of 23-22. Salem regained the lead in the third quarter 34-29. The Warriors led in field goals 17-12.

High point man for the Warriors was Ripka who was kept to only 15 points. Ripka was held to only four points in the second half before he fouled out with 7:05 to play, and with Salem in the lead by one point.

Other Warriors scoring were Vrenick 10, Dyer 8, Wiggins 5 and Wallace 4.

The GCHS cagers are now 12-4.

Collinsville will visit Granite City for a Southwest Conference game at 8:15 p.m. Sunday.

GSI Encounters Problems In Resuming Production

Mechanical difficulties in resuming production at the Castings Division of General Steel Industries after the mid-winter strike have delayed the scheduled resumption of production.

About 200 hourly employees had returned to work today. There were about 1,100 hourly employees at the plant before the strike.

Production equipment has been idle since 90 members of United Steelworkers of America Local 1022 went on strike Nov. 20 and much of the equipment was damaged seriously by sub-zero weather during the eight and one-half week shutdown.

A company spokesman said today that the steam and water system was not fully operative because of the damage done during the strike. The extent of damage to the four open hearth furnaces is not known at this time.

PROCESS STABILIZES FABRIC

Home seamstresses who find the process of shrinking wools before sewing a nuisance, will soon find that problem eliminated.

The textile industry has developed a process to stabilize wool and wool-blend fabrics to a residual shrinkage to 1/2 to 1 percent.

The traditional cold-water shrinking and steam-sponging techniques usually applied to woolsens and worsteds result in a possible 3- to 4-percent shrinkage.

Unlike some previous stabilization processes, the new technique does not affect the hand of the fabric.

The process — yet to be named — involves spraying the fabric with a specially developed resin. In addition to decreasing the shrinkage, the process stabilizes treated fabric against various humidity and temperature changes that cause ballooning and puckering.

NEW FINISH FOR POLYESTER

Consumers who complain about the clammy feeling they experience when they wear polyester garments will welcome the news that the problem has been solved.

The textile industry has developed a new fabric finish, trade-named "Fantessa." It improves the moisture-transport quality of polyester by permanently changing the surface of the fabric without any noticeable change in appearance.

In addition, the new finish permits better soil release and anti-static properties.

The finish does not significantly change the present qualities of polyester — wrinkle-resistance, strength, and dimensional stability.

Polyester fabrics with the Fantessa finish will be introduced in the spring.

Woman Shot in Her West Madison Home

Mrs. Gloria Ortiz, 29, of 205 West Second St., West Madison, was reported in good condition at St. Elizabeth Hospital today after she was shot in her home at 3:15 p.m. Friday.

The victim was taken by ambulance to the hospital where surgery was performed and a small caliber slug, was removed from her right side.

One man was questioned in connection with the shooting but charges have not been filed, police said.

Parents Urge Formation of Hearing Impaired Classes for Older Pupils

Charles Dietrich, a member of the Southwest Regional Program for Hearing Impaired, will represent the organization at a School Problems State Commission meeting Tuesday, at the Round Table Restaurant in Collinsville. Chairman of the commission is Representative Gene Hoffman.

Dietrich will speak before the commission to request an educational program for deaf children. Such a program is not available to children in this area with the exception of a kindergarten level class now being conducted at Lake School.

In his request, Dietrich will ask that classes be formed to educate children who have attended and passed the kindergarten level and need to be taught on an upper primary or upper intermediate level.

A local parents organization, headed by Steve Gargac as president, has been sending children with impaired hearing by bus to a school in Alton.

The Alton class has been eliminated and the children have been transferred to East Alton, Granite City and Belleville. However, classes are not planned for the older elementary students, Dietrich advised.

Dr. Bob Gossamer, Regional Plan Coordinator, Office of the Superintendent of Public Instruction (OSPI), Springfield, was the speaker at an emergency meeting of the Southwest Regional Program for Hearing Impaired held last week at Lake School.

He outlined to the parents the state plans for the hearing impaired program. He reviewed the state's goals and responsibilities in the area of the deaf, focusing his remarks on OSPI's effort to be more realistic toward teacher certification and financial backing of local programs.

After the speech by Dr. Gossamer, Gargac summarized the problems within the program, such as hiring deaf education teachers; projecting needs of the programs to the various school districts involved; and busing the children without planning. He stressed the need to develop a stable program to answer the needs of the deaf child.

Discussion on these points and many other problems resulted in a motion to employ an attorney to drive into the legal rights of deaf children in reference to education.

Among those present were George Moore, Granite City School Board member; Vasil Elitmoft, Pupil Personnel Director, Granite City; Elviera Kuegelmeier, special education director, Granite City; and 45 parents of the Regional Agreement area.

Contributions by Navy Mothers Area Parent-Teacher Group to Hear Doctor

The Quad-City Navy Mothers' Club of Post 850 held its January meeting at the VPW Home Thursday evening with the commander, Mrs. Nellie Dix, presiding. The commander gave a summary of a portion of the welfare program for this year.

A $100 donation was presented to the Navy recruiter, W. B. May, and his family who suffered a fire loss at Christmas.

Mrs. Dix reported that $200 will be sent to the national organization and will be returned and designated for the welfare program.

Other donations included $25 for the Great Lakes Hospital, the Quincy Soldiers and Sailors Home, the Alton State Hospital for a valentine party and the crippled children's fund telethon in February.

Voluntary Family Planning Service Subject of Study

The practical aspect of operating a voluntary family planning service in the Quad-Cities area, designed primarily to accommodate low income families and women between the ages of 15 and 44, is the subject of a feasibility study now being conducted here.

Mrs. Susan Criminger, director of planning for the Madison County Economic Opportunity Commission, said the possibility of establishing such a program in the Quad-Cities "appears good."

Representatives from the county anti-poverty agency presently are discussing the family planning program with key groups in the local communities, including ministers, church women and others.

Organizations interested in learning more about the services offered through the program may contact Mrs. Criminger, at 1-662-2260.

Purpose of the Family Planning Service is to provide couples who would not ordinarily have sources available to them with a choice on the number and the spacing of their children.

Countdown Provided. Additionally, the client is advised of alternative family planning methods, together with counseling and coordinated referral services to meet related family needs.

If the current investigation indicates a local program would be beneficial, the county anti-poverty agency is prepared to submit a proposal to the Illinois Council for Family Planning regional office in Chicago, Mrs. Criminger said.

Family Planning Services programs are financed through the U. S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

Estimated cost involved in establishing a program here is between $60,000 and $80,000. Almost the entire amount would be financed with federal funds, with exception of a minimal percentage in local "in-kind" contributions, the planning director said.

The Quad-Cities was selected as one of two primary target areas within Madison County. The second area—Alton—has a similar proposal now under consideration submitted through the Illinois Children and Family Services agency, Mrs. Criminger noted.

Miss Donna Betts, a caseworker for Children and Family Services, is assisting the EOC staff in collecting necessary data for the Quad-City proposal, it was learned.

Proposes Clinic

Two methods of implementing a family planning service here, Mrs. Criminger explained, would be to set up a permanent clinic facility, staffed by area physicians on a part-time basis, perhaps on a twice-weekly examining day schedule, she speculated. A licensed practical nurse would be on duty at other times.

Another procedure would be to work through a counseling-referral program only, with those participating referred to pre-designated local physicians for needed services.

Formation of an advisory board, composed of Quad-City residents, to provide community guidance and planning for the program also would lend direction and give impact to the staff, she said.

Several residual benefits have been noted in communities where family planning services are operating, Mrs. Criminger commented.

Early detection of cancer and venereal disease in participants undergoing physical examinations is made possible. Psychological or emotional problems and related poor health factors could be referred to existing agencies and the medical profession when uncovered.

Overall, the Family Planning Service program is designed to prevent a breakdown in the family structure; to help aid those without means to help themselves to get assistance from other established resources in the area, Mrs. Criminger said.

Farmers Must File Employe Withholding

Farmers have until Jan. 31 to report Social Security taxes withheld from their employees wages during 1971, Jay G. Philpott, District Director of Internal Revenue for Central and Southern Illinois, announced.

The reports should be filed on Form 943, Employer's Annual Tax Return for Agricultural Employees.

Mr. Philpott said that any farmer who pays an employee cash wages of $150 or more a year must withhold Social Security taxes. These taxes also must be withheld on wages under $150 for any person hired 20 days or more a year.

For tax purposes, a farm employer includes anyone who furnishes and pays workers to perform agricultural labor on his behalf or for someone else. Mr. Philpott said a "crew leader" is an employer under this definition.

The 1971 Social Security tax rate is 10.4% of the first $7,800 of taxable wages paid a farm employee. Half the tax is paid by the farmer and the other half by the employee.

Farmers must give a W-2 every worker they pay $600 or more a year. Employees paid less than $600 should receive a statement covering their Social Security taxes, Mr. Philpott said.

More detailed information is available in Publication 51 (Circular A), "Agricultural Employer's Tax Guide." Send a post card to Forms, P.O. Box 1468, Springfield, Illinois 62705 for a free copy.

THE SCHERMER BULLETIN

Avery checked out a customer Friday morning, a fairly large order (some $54.90) and was surprised when the wife remarked, "well, I thought it would be much more". So Avery said, "not at Schermers. You just came to the right store." The lady replied, "well Mr. Schermers, we are new to this area, but it didn't take us long to find your store. You know, my husband always shops with me and I have to find a store that pleases him as well as me". Avery replied, "among other things, the order was sacked and the carry-out was ready to take the order out so they left, but when Avery related the incident, we all felt good.

The weight-watcher's chocolate extract went out of stock so we have a "rush" order coming in Wednesday if you missed it last week. Also on this order will be "coconut extract" which many of you have asked for. The weight-watcher's fish items have been picking up, especially the Turbot fish which we have been selling for 79¢ lb. We find this same fish being sold in stores at prices ranging from 80¢ to $1.19. SAME FISH!

The New Zealand Lamb has picked up tremendously. Like they say on television "try it, you'll like it". Evidently enough people have tried it and liked it, because for some budgetwise shoppers it has become a regular item on their shopping list. We are still featuring Chops, Shoulder Roasts and Leg of Lamb at "pre-freeze" prices, so try some Lamb.... You'll like it.

Migration to Cities Causes Both Urban, Rural Problems

By GOVERNOR
RICHARD B. OGILVIE

The greatest migration this country has ever seen has scarcely had time to get into our history books.

Children learn of the centuries-long migration that settled the New World with immigrants, mostly from Europe. They learn of the push to the west in the United States as we extended the frontier all the way to the Pacific.

Today we are in the midst of a new migration—the most massive ever—as more and more of our population moves from rural areas to the cities.

In 1790, 99% of America's four million inhabitants lived in rural areas. Today, only about 27% of our 210 million Americans are still in the country.

Putting this another way, 250 million live in less than 2% of the land. It is as if we owned a vast palace with hundreds of rooms, but people decided to live in just a few of them. And the trend continues. Our smaller communities are losing population, industries, jobs and services to the big cities.

Many rural towns are without a family doctor. Their tax base is worsening, making it more difficult to raise funds for education and other basic services. But the hurt goes both ways. Not only does this migration damage the entire economy of rural Illinois, but it also creates problems in our big cities that have defied solutions.

"The urban crisis" and all that goes with it are only too familiar to all of us. We must stop the flow of people and goods from country to city.

We must bring opportunities to the people in our rural areas instead of doing what we have been doing—providing opportunities only in the big cities.

This effort requires the assistance of governments at all levels. At the state level, I have instructed my Cabinet on Rural Development to recommend the strongest possible steps.

But the work doesn't stop here. The federal government can and must play a major role in helping the development of our rural areas.

Two particular examples come to mind. Near-bankruptcy for some farmers and severe distress for others was averted when the President yielded to my pleas to call striking dockworkers back to their jobs.

The strike threatened the heavy shipments of Illinois corn and beans that make up the No. 1 agricultural exporting state.

A second example occurred recently when I heard of the bind our electric co-ops were in. City people take an adequate supply of electricity for granted.

It's a different story for the customers who are so few and the distances so great that only Rural Electrification cooperatives can supply the need.

Today we have co-ops in 86 counties servicing about 50,000 rural Illinoisans. Like other businesses, these co-ops have had to build, construct lines, build substations, and erect generating facilities.

Throughout rural Illinois, electric loads are increasing because the state has been building new roads, parks, and improving health services which have started to attract new residential and industrial enterprises.

Springfield — Thousands of persons will have to file income disclosure statements when new ethics legislation passed by the General Assembly becomes effective July 1.

Local government elected officials and candidates for those posts, members of any commission or board created by the State Constitution, persons whose appointment to office must be confirmed by the Senate and members of such state agencies as the Board of Higher Education, the Board of Regents or the Toll Highway Authority also must file.

All levels of the judiciary must file. State employees making $20,000 a year or more must file, excluding teachers but including university administrators.

Virtually all local government agencies where decisions are made under the new ethics legislation. The requirements are the same whether board members are salaried or non-salaried.

Agencies included in the new legislation are school boards, city councils, county boards and other elected city and county officials, township elected officials, and special districts such as park systems and sanitary districts.

The requirements cover those who are appointed to their positions as well as those who are elected. Candidates for election to any of these posts also must file statements.

Report Says Illinois Lead Pollution Rising

By JOAN MURARO
Copley News Service

Springfield—Increasing amounts of lead are being found in the air, and soil and even in Lake Michigan bottom sediments in Illinois, the Institute for Environmental Quality has reported.

The report noted that "control strategies are required" but added that federal requirements currently prevent the state from taking meaningful steps to reduce the single most serious source of lead emissions—fumes from leaded gas exhausts.

The report, released by Institute Director Michael Schneiderman, was compiled at the University of Illinois by a group headed by John E. Pearson, professor of general, civil and nuclear engineering. Not only are amounts of lead in the Illinois environment increasing substantially, Schneiderman said, but the dangers they pose are far more measurable in urban than in rural areas.

Pearson listed six "practical" steps as essential to effectively curb the amounts of lead to which Illinois residents are being exposed. These included:

Drastic reduction in use of leaded gasoline.

Banning of lead water pipes, through amended plumbing codes.

Protection of children from access to walls and other surfaces bearing leaded paints.

Loss use of lead arsenate pesticides.

Control of lead particulate emissions by industry.

Research on the effect on health of low levels of lead.

Noting that "lead in the environment inevitably leads to lead in man," the report added that urban areas today bear 100 times more lead in his body than a man from a lead free environment.

The report finds that lead in drinking water is so far not apparently a significant problem in Illinois, except in older buildings where lead pipe is used in water delivery systems.

Primary sources of lead in the human body are food and air, the report says, adding that approximately 90% of the lead in the atmosphere is the result of the exhausts of lead fumes from automobiles.

"Abatement of the automotive source would be instrumental in reducing pollution levels in food and water as well as in air and in reducing the total exposure to man."

Since most lead emissions in the air come from gasoline additives, and since federal law severely restricts the rights of a state to control these additives, Schneiderman said, "We are asking the federal government to use its exclusive power in this area to provide maximum control."

Lead is a national leader among the states in air pollution control. Yet we are denied the power to use our effective pollution control machinery to control the most important source of lead pollution.

Total effect of lead accumulations on human is not known. Understanding of the nature, effect and treatment of acute lead poisoning has been developed, but most urban residents with elevated lead blood levels do not have sufficient amounts to cause lead poisoning, Schneiderman said. He added that poisoning at lower levels may cause chronic illness which are not now understood.

Springfield—Paul Simon is slowing down the game.

Like a basketball team holding a good lead in the last half, the Illinois governor has switched to ball control in his contest with "walking" Dan Rostenkowski for Democratic nomination for governor.

The Simon strategy as interpreted by the Statehouse is to let Rostenkowski run his campaign on his own terms, but to "play it cool" let him press and make mistakes.

Simon votes at the political front. The tactic appears to be working.

There is a feeling at the Capitol that the early and surprising effective Walker is already running out of steam and that his primary threat to Simon is diminishing.

It is considered possible that Walker may have expended his energy too early, that his campaign may already have peaked and that Simon can probably now coast in on his reputation and name-recognition.

For a while, it looked like Walker had a maneuvered Simon into playing Walker's game, a run and shoot affair with neither side stopping for breath—much less taking a time out.

The Simon camp did display surprising and considerable nervousness when he was assailed by Walker for breaking faith with the party's idealists and ally himself closely with Chicago Mayor Richard J. Daley.

The Simon people filed back a few shots which only kept the game going and probably encouraged some otherwise complacent Democrats that maybe Walker had something.

But, in recent days, the Simon forces are paying far less attention to Walker.

The Simon strategy is shifting back to the traditional one wherein a heavy favorite virtually ignores his lesser-known opponent in order to avoid sharing an audience.

There is a feeling, too, among Democrats—and especially those Downstate—that Walker has been abrasive in his campaigning and sometimes reckless in his attacks on Simon.

Springfield—Illinois Republicans are not frightened by the statistical possibility that U. S. Sen. Adlai E. Stevenson III may be on the 1972 ballot as the Democratic candidate for vice president. Most would welcome it.

It has long been taken for granted at the Statehouse that Stevenson is trying hard for the number two spot this year as another big step toward his ultimate ambition of reaching the goal that twice eluded his father, the White House itself.

At his Springfield news conference, U. S. Sen. Edmund S. Muskie of Maine, front-running candidate for the 1972 Democratic nomination for President, made it clear he would welcome the boost the Stevenson name would give his own candidacy.

Stevenson would probably be an asset nationally for Muskie, but whether he would do him much good in Illinois is a debatable question.

Most Statehouse Republicans would welcome a Stevenson national candidacy. Not only do they not fear it would hurt the chances of the GOP state ticket, but think it might very well be an asset.

Most are certain that it would measurably boost the prospects of President Richard M. Nixon for carrying Illinois.

To them it is a case of the name game is reverse.

They cite the parallel of the elder Stevenson, Adlai II, who won election for governor in 1948 by more than half-a-million votes, but lost the state when running for president four years later.

The late Dwight D. Eisenhower beat Stevenson for 440,000 votes in Illinois in a second-test in 1952 by 47,645 votes.

Statehouse Republicans, plus some Democrats, reason that while Illinoisans may vote for a Stevenson for a state office, they shy away from advancing them to the White House or the immediate proximity thereof.

There is also a feeling beneath the Capitol Dome that Adlai II, like Adlai I, has won in politics as much by luck as anything.

The elder Stevenson won his only race in Illinois against the late Republican Gov. Dwight H. Green, who was trying to break the third consecutive term barrier and was hampered by scandals as well.

No Blocking by GC of Construction Permits

A majority bloc of the Granite City Council failed last week to muster enough votes to override a mayoral veto of council action requiring special inspections of drainage facilities before permits could be issued in the eastern area of the city.

An effort to keep the measure on the books followed announcement by Mayor Donald Partney that he was vetoing the bill because he considered it a detriment to "progress and future growth of the city."

The action killed a resolution that was a controversial issue before the council for nearly two months before it was given final passage in the Jan. 3 council meeting. Efforts to pass the resolution were delayed in three consecutive council sessions. The bill finally was placed on first reading, Dec. 27, and passed the following week.

The measure prohibited issuance of building permits in that part of the city east of the Nameoki Drainage Canal unless inspections by the city inspector and the city engineer, Special Sewer Committee established that drainage facilities for proposed construction were adequate.

Caused Flooding
Proponents of the measure insisted that construction work in the past that entailed filling in of natural drainage channels while at the same time creating greater stormwater runoff in heavy rains was responsible for flooding in the eastern and northeastern section of the city, particularly in the Lynch-Veseli Avenue area.

Inspection of areas in which future building is proposed to determine if drainage facilities are sufficient to prevent flooding would prevent repetition of the problem, backers of the bill maintained.

Mayor Partney opposed the bill from the beginning, although the measure was sponsored by Alderman Thomas Boker of the Seventh Ward, one of the mayor's principal allies in most council issues.

In announcing his veto of the resolution, the mayor told the council:

"This resolution would reduce building and cut city revenue. It is my feeling that it will hold back the future growth of the city. Our future growth lies to the east of us. I would like to see the city expand clear to the bluffs, as I am sure it someday will."

Alderman Emerald Dawes who had joined with Boker in obtaining passage of the measure, replied that the regulation "would not stop building in any way. It would control it. Something has to be done out there to improve drainage conditions."

The mayor pointed out that the city will drain the northeast area, but that a restriction on building was not the way to do it.

Moves to Override
Dawes presented a motion to override Mayor Partney's veto and Alderman Paul Schuler gave it a second.

Surprisingly enough, on a roll call vote, Boker, principal proponent of the bill, voted against overriding the veto. His vote brought Aldermen Roy Poulos and Claude Green to their feet asking that their votes in favor of overriding the veto be changed to "no" votes.

"If the alderman of the ward involved (Boker) doesn't go along with this, then I want to change my vote to no," Poulos said. Green also changed his vote.

The motion to override the veto failed by a vote of 7 to 5 in favor, with two council members absent. A two-thirds majority or 10 votes were necessary to kill the veto.

Voting against overriding the veto were Aldermen Boker, Poulos, Green, R. E. Robertson and Everett Morin. Voting in favor were Aldermen Clyde Boyd, Sam Whitmer, Paul Schuler, Steve Basarich, Frank Greenwald, Emerald Dawes and William Dallas. Alderman Walter Nann and Gerald Partney were absent.

County Proposes Mobile Home Tax

An ordinance establishing a property tax on occupants of mobile homes was placed on the agenda of the Madison County Board of Supervisors last week and will be up for final adoption at its meeting next month.

The tax will be 15 cents per square foot on each mobile home in the county, with the average amount totaling $45 to $50 per year. The rate will be reduced to 10 cents a square foot for the elderly.

The new tax will replace the property tax or any other tax on the trailers. The owner of every mobile home will be required to file a registration form with the county treasurer before June 1, accompanied by a receipt for taxes paid for the current tax year.

The penalty for failure to register will be a fine of up to $100 for each day of violation. The ordinance also provides a mobile home park license fee of $50 per year.

The board also amended the mobile home park code existing regulations on service and utility requirements.

Objecting to the two measures was Dominic Meyer of Collinsville, head of the Madison County Mobile Home Association. He asked that they be delayed a month to permit his group to study the new requirements and to discuss them with the county committee.

Dan Churovich of Granite City, chairman of the investigation and license committee, said the privilege tax ordinance is identical with a new state statute which was adopted with the support of the state mobile home association, and that the down-graded code requirements had been negotiated with the county group.

Motions to table the two measures were defeated.

Parents of Title I Council Plan Tour

Parents on the Title I Elementary-Secondary Education Act Advisory Council are planning a tour of the Title I centers at Logan, McKinley, Washington and Webster schools in February to become better informed on the operation of the program.

A discussion of the visits will be held at the council's next meeting March 28. No date for the tour has been set.

At the council's last meeting, parents indicated they would be interested in taking the tour. The program at that meeting included a brief resume of the local project by Mrs. Ruth Lahr, head of the Granite City Title I project.

Mrs. Beatrice Pyle, Title I nurse, discussed the nurses' role in the project, and Miss Loretta Woolbright, Title I counselor, explained the activities of the counselors. Mrs. Jane Raphael, teacher, discussed the pre-school program and Mrs. Jo Wagoner, reading teacher, discussed the remedial reading program.

The council discussed the need for formal organization and decided that there should be a vice chairman elected.

However, the desire of the group was to postpone the election until the next meeting.

There was discussion on the need of a secretary and George Moore, school board member, suggested that the minutes could be handled by the administration. The council agreed.

Fred Noeth, principal at Washington School, suggested that the parents on the council could become involved by informing parents of the merits of the Title I program.

Changes in Tax Laws Explained, Money-Saving Hints Given by U. S.

(Internal Revenue Service)

Q What is the personal exemption for 1971?

A The Revenue Act of 1971 increased the allowable personal exemption to $675 for the 1971 tax year.

Q My son earned more than $675 from a summer job last year. Can I still claim him as a dependent?

A If your son was a full-time student regardless of age for some part of each of any five months of 1971 or was less than 19 years old at the end of the year, you can claim him as a dependent regardless of how much money he made, provided you meet all the other dependency tests, including furnishing over one-half of your son's total support.

Q I received a refund on my 1970 state income tax in 1971. Do I have to report it as income on my 1971 federal income tax return?

A You must include in income for the year of receipt that part of the refund that gave you a tax benefit in the earlier year.

For example, if you took a deduction for state income taxes on your 1970 federal income tax return and received the full benefit of the deduction through a refund in tax, you must include the refund as income on your 1971 federal return.

On the other hand, if you did not deduct state income taxes on your 1970 federal return, the refund is not to be included on your 1971 federal return.

Q Are all medical expenses deductible?

A No.

Except for medical insurance premiums, only those unreimbursed medical expenses you paid that exceed three percent of your adjusted gross income are deductible.

In addition, medical expenses are deductible only if you itemize your deductions.

You may deduct [all of your medical insurance premiums up to $150 without regard to the three percent limitation; with the balance also deductible subject to the three percent rule.]

Payments for medicines and drugs may be included in your medical expenses only to the extent they exceed one percent of your adjusted gross income.

This excess is then subject to the three percent limitation.

Q How much money can I earn before I have to file a federal income tax return?

A You must file a federal income tax return if you are single and had income of $1,700 or more last year ($2,300 if you are 65 or older) or if you are married and you and your spouse's combined income is $2,300 or more ($2,900 if one spouse is 65 or older, $5,500 if both are 65 or older).

If you are self-employed and had net earnings from self-employment of $400 or more, you must file a federal income tax return.

Q Will the IRS still figure my tax for me?

A If your adjusted gross income is $300,000 or less and consists of wages or salaries and tips, dividends, interest, pensions, and annuities, the IRS will be glad to compute your tax at your request.

However, you must take the standard deduction, instead of itemizing deductions, if you are in certain lines, and file your return by April 15 to have the IRS do the figuring for you.

Be sure to read the instructions that come with the Form 1040 as to the lists that have to be completed.

Q When will I get my W-2 form from my employer?

A Employers are required to furnish their employees Wages and Tax statements, Form W-2, by Jan. 31, 1972.

Howlett-Give Police Support in Their Increasingly Hazardous Job

Talk by Michael J. Howlett, Illinois State Auditor of Public Accounts, Thursday night at Ottawa, Ill., during the 25th annual policemen-firemen banquet sponsored by the State of Rock Knights of Columbus Council.

The occupation of a police officer is becoming hazardous, he said, as more and more officers are murdered in the line of duty last month.

According to FBI reports, there were 125 police officers killed in the line of duty last month.

That is a new record, 25% higher than the previous year. Since 1961, there have been 738 local, county and state law enforcement officers murdered in the United States.

Twenty-four officers were killed last year responding to robbery calls. Twenty others were ambushed. Another 20 were killed by resistors to traffic arrests.

Nine others were killed handling disturbance problems. Seven were killed by mentally deranged persons. Nine were killed investigating suspicious circumstances. Seven were killed in burglary attempts.

Seven were killed by prisoners in their custody. Another seven were killed trying to make arrests for crimes other than robbery or burglary.

Crime has been rising throughout the United States.

During the decade from 1960 to 1970, it rose 14 times as fast as the population.

The first job of policemen is to protect the lives and property of citizens.

It is a thin, blue line, and it can hold its ground only if backed up solidly by the people being protected.

To help them enforce the law effectively, we must provide modern, professional training for our police officers.

Police administration is a science. It involves planning, coordination, manpower, equipment, budgeting.

We should not expect policemen to take on all the duties of police jobs. We ask them to inspect buildings, shelter pets, register bicycles and cars, hand out parking tickets and handle crowds at public events.

We should not be asking them to serve as clerks or in jobs that nonprofessionals could handle.

We live in turbulent times. The policeman is the man who must face them most often and stand between them and the turbulence.

The policeman must catch criminals while it is the same time respecting the constitutional freedom of the individual he may be trying to arrest. How well he does it depends largely on how well he is prepared for it.

If he is a trained professional, with a professional's compensation and opportunity to advance, he can handle crisis with authority.

Police officers, like our fighting men overseas, are entitled to feel that America is backing them up.

The strength of our society is its respect for law, and it starts with respect for the police officer.

Ruling for Extra Elections Assures That New County Board Will Take Over in May

The initial reaction of many toward the Illinois Supreme Court decision for separate 1972 county board elections is that it requires an extravagant waste of money—perhaps $150,000 in Madison County.

But, on balance, there are important dividends from the ruling, which ordered selection of new county board members through a Feb. 8 primary and April 4 final balloting.

The alternative would have been to hold these elections simultaneously with the statewide primary on March 21 and the general election on Nov. 7. Circuit Judge Michael Kinney of Madison County ordered combined voting but was reversed Jan. 13 by the high court, which noted that the separate dates had been set by the legislature.

Disadvantages of the reversal are that voter registration and pre-election dissemination of information will be hampered. With registration closed 28 days before and two days after each election, there will be fewer days for prospective voters to register to participate in the March primary.

The other side of the coin also should be considered, however. There will be less direct partisan influence on the county board selection process than if the elections were consolidated.

And the February-April timing will enable the present 49-member Madison County Board of Supervisors to be replaced by the newly-chosen 29-member board May 1, instead of the existing board being given a second extension through November (members with terms stated end in 1971 were permitted to continue into 1972).

The Supreme Court felt that separate elections were the lesser of two evils. "Would we like to perpetuate a type of unconstitutional situation to correct another?" was the comment of one justice, noting that present boards have been deemed unconstitutional in that they violate the "one man, one vote" ideal.

Under past procedures, each township sent its supervisor to the county board and more populous townships also elected assistant supervisors whose sole duty was membership on the county board.

The new Madison County Board will consist entirely of one member each from 29 districts of roughly identical population. This will not only provide more equitable representation but also a board of more workable size; 49 proved to be too cumbersome to function with maximum effectiveness.

In view of these benefits, the sooner the county board elections, the better.

It's too bad that people often have to wait until the well goes dry before they know the real value of water.

Springfield View-Ed Muskie Has Clinched Democratic Nomination

By JERRY OWENS
Copy News Service

Springfield—It's all over but the shouting. Edmund Muskie has virtually clinched the Democratic presidential nomination.

That's the opinion of an overwhelming majority of the scores of Democratic officials who have been in Springfield for political events.

The party leaders—county chairmen, state central committee members, state officials, legislators and others—also concluded either publicly or privately that Muskie has wrapped up the support of the state Democratic organization.

Though there will be considerable hoopla and ballyhoo surrounding the presidential "race" between now and the national convention six months away, it looks very much like Muskie will be the nominee.

The state Democratic organization is taking no official position in the delegate contests. But many organization Democrats are running committed to Muskie. Many others are running "uncommitted" but actually lean toward or privately favor Muskie.

Chicago Mayor Richard Daley has warmly praised Muskie but has fallen just short of endorsing him. Senator Adlai Stevenson III endorsed the Maine senator.

State Auditor Michael J. Howlett and Lt. Gov. Paul Simon have been warm and friendly to Muskie but both say they remain uncommitted at this time.

At the national level, Muskie has been endorsed by nine past or present U. S. senators, by nine present or former governors, by 17 congressmen, by 135

Ethics Law Will Enhance Public's Ability To Evaluate Officeholders and Candidates

The sweeping nature of the new Illinois governmental ethics law signed Jan. 17 by Governor Richard B. Ogilvie is indicated by estimates that between 35,000 and 50,000 persons will be required to file information on certain aspects of their financial affairs.

The previous state ethics act applied to General Assembly and University of Illinois board members and candidates, plus those holding or seeking elected offices in the executive branch of the state government.

Beginning July 1, the disclosure requirement will be effective for the following seven additional categories:

1. Members and candidates for commissions or boards created by the Illinois Constitution, such as the Judicial Inquiry Board.
2. Officials whose appointment are subject to Illinois Senate confirmation, such as Southern Illinois University trustees and members of the Bi-State Development Agency and Tri-City Regional Port District.
3. Supreme Court, Appellate, Circuit and Associate Judges and candidates.
4. State University and hospital administrators earning $20,000 yearly or more.
5. Elected school board members and local government (county, township and municipal) officials and candidates.
6. Those appointed to school boards, special districts, zoning boards, zoning appeals boards and regional, county and municipal plan commissions.
7. School and local government administrators paid $20,000 annually or more.

Reports from state officials are to be filed with the secretary of state, and local government reports will go to the county clerk, which noted that the data being made available for public inspection.

Professional organizations, such as law firms, are to be listed if $1,200 income was received the previous year. State officials are to name companies doing business in Illinois in which they own $5,000 in stock or received a $1,200 dividend the past year; local officials are to list this only if the firm does business with their governmental agency.

Capital assets including real estate are to be listed if the individual realized a $5,000 capital gain during the year. Each individual is to identify all government jobs held in the year. And each is to name "compensated lobbyists" with whom they have "close economic relationships."

In listing fund sources, the official need not show the amount derived. In showing major ownership interests, he need not show the precise extent. There is no ban on holding of two offices simultaneously.

Although the law falls short of his recommendations on campaign contribution disclosure and spending, the governor wisely approved it as a step forward, in the knowledge that further ethics advances can be sought from the legislature. Campaign reform, in fact, seems possible this year, although not in time to apply to the 1972 elections.

In any event, House Bill 3700 is sure to add to the information currently available to the public to aid in judging prospective and existing officeholders.

Taxes of Midwest States Compared

By MAURICE W. SCOTT
Executive Vice President, Taxpayers' Federation of Illinois

"How does Illinois' overall state tax climate compare with neighboring states since the enactment of the state income tax two years ago?" is a question often asked of the staff of the Taxpayers' Federation of Illinois.

In 1970, personal income in Illinois amounted to $58,131,000 and state taxes for fiscal 1971 totaled $3,149,211,000.

A process of arithmetic shows that state taxes in Illinois took 6.27% of personal income.

In Indiana, state taxes took 5.36% of personal income. In Iowa, 5.11%; in Kentucky, 4.98%; in Michigan, 4.89%; in Ohio, 4.89%; in Tennessee, 4.10%; and in Wisconsin, 3.70%.

The only state in the above comparison not levying an income tax in fiscal 1971 was Ohio (that state recently enacted an income tax).

In Illinois for fiscal 1971, the corporate income tax produced 4.94% of total state taxes while the individual income tax produced 24.61% of total state tax receipts.

In the neighboring states the comparable percentages are as follows: Indiana, corporate 3.9%, individual 20.72%; Iowa, corporate 3.75%, individual 18.11%; Kentucky, corporate 5.28%, individual 17.44%; Michigan, corporate 6.89%, individual 17.75%; Missouri, corporate 3.30%, individual 17.75%; Tennessee, corporate 8.04%, individual 1.67%; and Wisconsin, corporate 6.24%, individual 3.69%.

Illinois and all of its neighbors relied heavily upon the state sales tax to produce revenues for state functions.

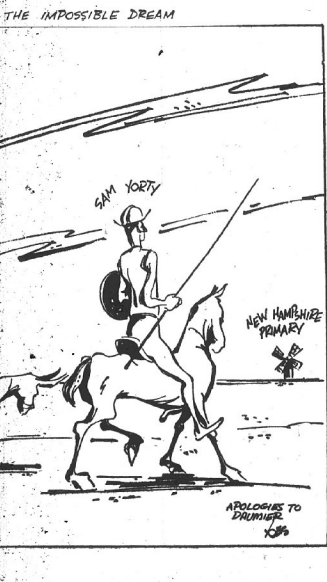

In Illinois, this tax at a 4% rate produced 32.58% of the revenues derived from state taxes in fiscal 1971.

The comparisons for our neighbors are: Indiana, state rate 2%; percentage of total state taxes 38.33%; Iowa, rate 3%, percentage of total state taxes 30.81%; Kentucky, state rate 5%, percentage of total state taxes 38.12%; Michigan, rate 4%, percentage of total 34.55%; Missouri, rate 3%, percentage of total 39.36%; Ohio, rate 4%, percentage of total 38.92%; Tennessee, rate 3.5%, percentage of total 35.71%; and Wisconsin, rate 4%, percentage of total 23.84%.

"What does the state of Illinois do with its share of the property tax?" is a question often asked. The answer is "nothing," because the property tax revenues all go to local governments.

Illinois has not levied a state property tax since 1913. But the local property tax is a terrific revenue producer.

In fiscal 1969-70, local property taxes accounted for 41.2% of total state-local tax collections (total state-local tax collection $5,410,000, local property tax revenues $2,227,000).

The Granite City Press-Record begins underwriting 5:30 p.m. Wednesday telecasts of Channel 9's reading series for seven- to ten-year-olds, "The Electric Company," this week, Paul G. Halbert, general manager of the newspaper, announced today.

The popular series, aired at 10 a.m. and 5:30 p.m. week days, had been removed from Channel 9's afternoon schedule on Monday, Jan. 17, when the existing underwriting contract expired.

James Wallis Files as Uncommitted Delegate

James Wallis, 26, of Collinsville, has filed petitions to run as an uncommitted alternate delegate to the Democratic National Convention. Wallis will be on the Democratic Primary ballot on March 21.

Wallis is a government student at SIU-SW. He presently is treasurer of the SIU-SW College Democrats. He also is political coordinator of the College Democrats of Illinois. Wallis now is deputy circuit clerk of Madison County.

Wallis formerly served as administrative assistant to State Senator Sam M. Vadalabene while Vadalabene was a member of the Illinois House of Representatives. Wallis also is a member of the Southwestern Illinois Advisory Council of Dr. Michael Bakalis, State Superintendent of Public Instruction.

Wallis said, "It is imperative for those delegates to the Democratic National Convention to represent the true preference of the people of each district. Therefore, I feel that the only way to know those preferences is to watch the performances of each of the available candidates in the respective primaries, especially the Illinois Primary on March 21, 1972. Only then will I really be able to know what the people of my district feel are the important issues of the campaign of 1972."

The support of the Press-Record and other out-state Missouri and Illinois newspapers has enabled Channel 9 to reinstate "The Electric Company," a Channel 9 spokesman said.

Built around a seven-member repertory company including comedian Bill Cosby and Oscar-winner Rita Moreno, the series uses vaudeville comedy routines, take-offs on soap operas and game shows, a rock music group composed of five youngsters, electronic computer-generated graphics and animation in the 130 daily half-hour programs being broadcast over the 26-week first experimental season.

A year and a half of research and testing as well as consultation with more than 100 leading reading experts went into the development of the experimental series, created and produced by the Children's Television Workshop (CTW), the producers of "Sesame Street."

The Electric Company concentrated on a general target audience of second-third and fourth-grade youngsters — the 7-to-10 age group.

The particular "bulleseye" of the target is the second grader in the lower half of his class in reading achievement, reports Joan A.G. Cooney, president of CTW.

CTW undertook the new reading series project in response to a request from the federal government which has designated the 1970s as the "decade to read," with universal literacy as a major national goal.

"While a majority of our children have achieved success in this difficult task, Mrs. Cooney said, 'uplifting numbers of children and adults in America remain functionally illiterate.' This experiment is the first nationwide attempt to use the TV medium in solving the problem of reading failure."

The experiment is also the most thoroughly researched TV series in history.

Research on the series is being conducted in three phases. The beginning phase of study centered on television's capabilities to teach reading and an investigation — with the aid of experts in the field — of what curriculum goals to adopt.

The second period of pre-broadcast study includes testing of experimental production segments and model programs to find the most appealing and effective ways to achieve the program's goal.

The final stage of research will include pre- and post-testing of children by an independent agency to determine the educational impact of the 130 daily half-hour programs.

Persons desiring further information on the series and its classroom utilization possibilities may should contact the School Service Department, KETC, Channel 9, 696 Millbrook, St. Louis, Mo. 63130.

WATER MAIN BREAK. Intense cold here hampered efforts to repair a major break in a water line on Madison Avenue between 18th and 19th streets which covered three lanes with ice. The six-inch main had to be repaired under pressure to avoid halting the water supply to St. Elizabeth Hospital. The repairs required 17 hours. The break was one of five water main breaks reported in the Quad-City area during a cold wave ending early last week.

Doctor of Arts Degree In Physics Considered

Thomas O. Baldwin and Steven G. Sanders of the physics department at SIU-SW attended a conference on the doctor of arts degree in physics at the University of Chicago Friday and Saturday.

Baldwin, chairman of the physics department; and Sanders, former chairman, joined representatives of physics departments from seven major universities in the country in discussing common problems.

Baldwin said a doctor of arts program is primarily designed to train college teachers; especially community college instructors. Considerable controversy surrounds the degree, because research or the writing of a dissertation are not required, as in the doctor of philosophy programs. Teaching experience and laboratory research are among the criteria.

At present, a proposal from the Science and Technology Division of SIU-SW is being considered by a committee of the Graduate Council, Baldwin said.

Other universities involved in the meeting were East Carolina University, Idaho State University, Indiana State University, State University of New York at Stony Brook, University of Washington at Seattle and University of California at Los Angeles.

County Executive System Studied In Some Areas

By RAY SERATI
Copley News Service

Springfield—More and more Illinois counties are looking at the possible new form of county government now available to the counties.

The General Assembly passed a law allowing the counties to adopt the new system of government—commonly called the county executive system of government.

The form of government is allowed under the home rule section for local government in the new state constitution.

In order for counties to participate under the home rule section, they have to adopt the county executive system of government.

State officials report that more and more counties from throughout Illinois have been sending inquiries to the capital about the county executive system. The officials say the inquiries are coming from counties of all population size.

Several northeastern counties already have expressed desires to venture into the new type government.

The county executive form of government in a way resembles the strong mayor type of government for municipalities.

The county executive would be hired by the county board.

He would take over two jobs which have become major stumbling blocks for counties — purchasing and budgeting.

These two items have become major concerns on the county level especially in recent years. As county officials try to stretch the tax dollar, budgeting has become an important facet of the day-to-day operations.

Among the duties of the county executive would be appointments and presiding over county board meetings.

Formation of the county executive system must come through a referendum of the voters. The proposal must win approval of the public before it can be established.

To date, state officials indicate they do not know if any counties are proceeding with referendum plans.

Theft from Auto

Ed Hagnauer, 2815 Cayuga St., reported at 2:35 p.m. Thursday that an eight-track stereo and two albums valued at $47 were stolen from his auto during the night.

Dedication of New Hospital Wing Set Sunday Afternoon

Dedication services and open house will be held Sunday when St. Elizabeth Hospital will open areas of its new $14,000,000 wing to the public at ceremonies beginning at 1 p.m.
Brief dedicatory services will be followed by informal tours of the new building which increases capacity from 288 patient beds to 400, and expands auxiliary services.
Departments to be visited during the tour include Cobalt, X-Ray and Physical Therapy on the ground floor; Laundry and Central Supply on lower level; Surgery, Recovery and Intensive Care on first floor; Maternity and Obstetrics on second floor; Extended Care and Occupational Therapy on third floor.

"We hope everybody who can will come to see their hospital this next Sunday, St. Elizabeth provides the ultimate in preventive and curative medical care," said Sister Mary Thomas, Administrator. "We're including on our tour a number of the more dramatic departments of our hospital which ordinarily are not open to the visiting public."
A new supporting service is the Cobalt Theratron Unit, used in the treatment of cancer. The Cobalt Unit, part of the Radiology department, has 30 inch thick lead insulated walls and ceilings. It will not, after dedication day on Jan. 30, be open to the visiting public. The Intensive Care Unit which contains a heavier concentration of more life sustaining equipment than any other hospital area will be a tour stop.

SIU Explorers Climb Sierra Madres To Find Hidden Beauty in Caverns

By VALERIE EVENDEN
Press-Record Staff Writer
A broken down car in the remote Sierra Madres Oriental Mountains of Southeastern Mexico and a confrontation with a hungry Jaguar were just two experiences long to be remembered by a group of Southern Illinois University students who traveled to Mexico on a spelunking expedition.

In the group was Alexia C. Cochrane, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Cochrane, 2730 State St., a junior at SIU-Carbondale and an ardent spelunker (cave explorer).

Miss Cochrane, a foreign language major who speaks fluent Spanish, accompanied the party as official interpreter, but ended up as good will ambassador, part-time cook and, most important—bargaining agent.

The Granite City girl recently received the SIU Activity Semester Scholarship Award. She also has qualified for the President's Scholar, denoting academic achievement.

Dedicated Spelunkers
One of her more unusual and exciting hobbies is the art of spelunking (cave exploring).

She is a member of the National Speleological Society and the Little Egypt Student Grotto. Miss Cochrane notes the SIU spelunkers convene for planning meetings and to prepare their extensive equipment at a "ramshackle, run-down old house" in Carbondale, tactfully, but truthfully called—the "Glorious Hole."

Their most practical sessions during which the skills required of a successful and safety-conscious spelunker are practiced, take place on the white bluffs in Shawnee National Forest, near Grand Tower, Ill.

Climb Bluff Face
The bluff face is sheer and offers an excellent chance to become proficient in rappelling—ascending and descending the cliff walls—a technique vital to spelunking in its more advanced form.

ALEXIA COCHRANE
Cave Explorer

The students also prepared for their Mexican expedition by exploring many new caves in Missouri—a state honeycombed with known and undiscovered caves, Miss Cochrane noted.

Arriving at the port of entry in Mexico, the young people quickly learned the value of securing accurate information in advance of the trip.

Those still minors were required to produce a documented letter of authority from their parents, granting permission to make the journey, and a minimum of $100 in U.S. currency, the Granite City student explained.

Craggy Peaks, Jungle
The group proceeded to South-eastern Mexico by auto—their destination, the rugged Sierra Madre Oriental Mountains, a range of craggy peaks and dense tropical jungle. Travel was slow, along narrow primitive roads, populated by wandering animals—cows, goats, burros and less passive species.

Driving at night was definitely discouraged, Miss Cochrane recalls. Night travel terminated abruptly after a car broke down one evening and some went looking for help, got lost in the jungle and were talked by a prowling Jaguar (Mexican leopard) with an appetite.

The following day we were told by the natives never to go into the jungle at night. We didn't again," the local girl said.

Exotic Birds, Flowers
Students carried and prepared their own food on the trip, or lived off the land. Oranges, bananas and other tropical fruits were plentiful in the jungle, which was alive with beautiful birds, parrots, exotic butterflies in rainbow colors and brilliant flowers.

The people in Mexico were most warm and friendly and proved delighted when Miss Cochrane conversed with them in their native tongue.

As usual, the normal prices spiraled upward when the "turistas" arrived, so a great deal of bargaining was necessary for all purchases, she commented. The fact that one peso (Mexican dollar) is worth 8c, cents, a Mexican money merely confused the issue.

But everything turned out very pleasant and the students were invited to take part in the village Christmas festival, which always is celebrated in the town square.

Little children carrying lighted candles and singing Christmas carols create a heartwarming scene as they proudly parade around the square before their families, the visitor said.

Miss Cochrane was asked to break the "pinada," a large paper bird or animal stuffed with candy and small coins for the youngsters. The Granite City girl was ceremoniously blindfolded, handed a long stick, spun around several times and broke the pinada to the cheers of the villagers.

"Shower of Emeralds"
After exploring the Cave of the Dead, so named because it is completely devoid of moisture or life of any kind, the SIU student went swimming in the lovely Green River—Rio Puri Piciam—Purification River.

The water was a rich green color and when tossed by hand into the air against the sunlight it emerged as a "shower of emeralds," she recalls.

Most Mexican caves, some of which are larger than Carlsbad Caverns in New Mexico, contain a profusion of animal life, Miss Cochrane notes.

Huge Fruit Bats, sporting 15-inch wing spans, large salamanders and great, hairy Tarantula spiders, bigger than a man's hand, around inside the rock openings.

Blind Fish, Wildcats
Blind fish swim in the underground rivers and lakes found within the caverns and, on two occasions, the group encountered wildcats called "Tigrillo" or Little Tigers.

Of special interest to the SIU spelunkers was the Blue Lake Cave—an open pit 300 feet deep with a lake at the bottom reaching to depths of 160 feet. The water was bright blue and very clear and despite its great depth the lake bed was visible, Miss Cochrane said.

Highlighting the trip was the exploration of the enormous "Sontana de las Golondrinas" (Cave of the Swallows), the largest open pit in the Western Hemisphere.

Permission Needed
To explore the cave permission first had to be obtained from the Mexican government and the services of a guide were required.

Finding a guide was an adventure in itself, Miss Cochrane noted. Students hiked several miles to a tiny village high on the mountainside to find such a man to lead them into the cave. Most small hamlets in the area are accessible only by burro or on foot, she said.

Arriving at one village, Miss Cochrane and her companions were invited to a feast of wild venison, tacos and a variety of highly spiced Mexican food. The group then was escorted to the village square where the whole population had gathered to see the "tourists."

Bargaining Begins
With the entire village cheering the "little gringo" on, a three-hour period of hard bargaining took place. The guide's starting price for a three-day trip, plus use of three burros, was 250 pesos, about $45.

At the end of the bargaining session, the SIU party received his services and burros for 300 pesos, about $55, to the delight of the villagers.

Ten more miles of hiking across the rugged mountain range was needed to reach the "pit." Descent into the hole was over a protruding lip and then straight down a sheer drop more than 1,200 feet.

Million Swallows Dive
Several SIU spelunkers explored the bottom, an area roughly six acres in size. The Cave of Swallows gained its name because at dusk each day, millions of swallows dive headlong into the pit, straight to the bottom at tremendous speed, to roost there for the night.

The SIU spelunkers packed with them for their Mexican excursion such items as a hard hat, sleeping bag, tent, carbide miner's lamp, climbing gear, compass, food and a back pack frame. The total weighed an average of 40 pounds.

Another important item carried with the group was a roll of plastic bags. The small sacks are used to remove any refuse from the caves visited, Miss Cochrane explained.

The cardinal rule of a spelunker is "leave nothing here but your thoughts and memories," she stressed.

Miss Cochrane, who has explored portions of the Carlsbad Caverns in New Mexico, not ordinarily open to the public, reports the caves of Mexico have living, growing rock formations of great spectacular beauty.

Those making their journey into the Sierra Madres Oriental Mountains spent an average of $60 for the entire trip. Most of the total amount, which was budgeted ahead of time, was expended for American gasoline, she reported.

An SIU botanist made the trip with the students.

LaRose Graduates as

State Road Trooper

Law Enforcement Director Herbert D. Brown on Friday announced the graduation of 46 new state police troopers, bringing the uniformed strength of the state police to 1,700 men, the agency's statutory limit.

The list includes, in District 15 (Oak Brook Trail Road duty) Leo H. LaRose of Granite City. Ceremonies for the 49th state police cadet class were held at the Illinois Building on the State Fairgrounds in Springfield Friday. Featured speaker was James T. Moreland, special agent in charge of the Springfield office of the FBI.

"The men reported to their assignments today. Each man will be on one year's probation beginning today, Brown said.
